Indian Academy of Acupuncture Science run by Indian Institute of Holistic Medicines is the biggest Acupuncture institute of its kind in India. It was founded in 1983 A.D. by Prof. Sir. Dr. P. B. Lohiya. The Academy is affiliated to International open university of complimentary Medicines Srilanka Chapter of Medicina Alternativa established as per 1962 World Health Organisation Alma Ata declaration which is further recognised by United Nations peace University. It is also affiliated to Indian branch of World Association of Chinese Medicine. Motto of the Academy is to spread the ancient Medical Science of Acupuncture.

Indian Academy of Acupuncture Science has conducted many training & treatment camps in all the major cities of India. The Academy also has its permanent Treatment, Training & Research centres at Bombay, Pune & Aurangabad. The Academy has so far trained 3000 student doctors from India & abroad. Through it's camps & treatment centres it has treated around 15 lakh patients in India.

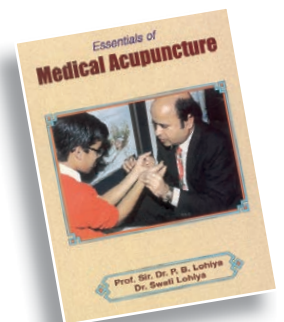

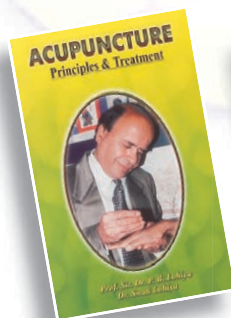

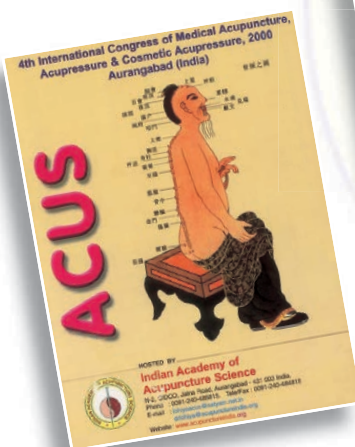

Acupuncture being a drugless remedy it has no side effects, is economical & hence proving to be a great boon to developing countries like India. Prof. Sir. Dr. P. B. Lohiya established Indian Academy of Acupuncture Science in order to propagate Acupuncture in India.

Prof. Sir. Dr. P. B. Lohiya has been awarded many International Accolades for his great contribution in this field. In 1995 Dr. P. B. Lohiya & Dr. Swati Lohiya had presented a paper in an international conference (China) which was awarded as the best paper in the conference. In 2001 they were honoured with "Honourable friend of the Institute" in Poland. Both of them have visited many countries in the world to present their papers on the research in the field of Acupuncture. They have authored many books in Acupuncture.

Dr. Sachin P. Lohiya, Chief Acupuncturist in Indian Academy of Acupuncture Science is basically an allopathic doctor trained in the art of Acupuncture at the International College of Acupuncture in Beijing (China). He received "Gold Ox Award" in Beijing (China) for his paper on "Disc Prolapse & Acupuncture".

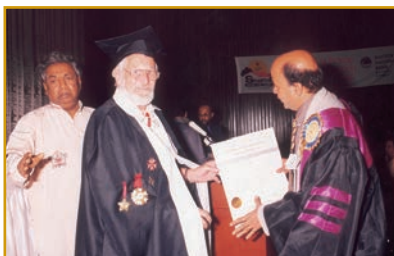

Dr. Neeta & Dr. Sarang Lohiya are also qualified medical doctors, now practicing only Acupuncture.
